Dear John,

When I spoke to you last Saturday outside the Armidale Cemetery Mortuary Chapel after the Mass for the Holy Souls, I was somewhat taken aback by your curt and immediate response to my suggestion that you consider again the matter of a week's orientation course in Sydney.

You know very well that I have your spiritual welfare at heart. Therefore, I repeat my suggestion and offer to sponsor you for a week's course in Sydney. It cannot be good from any aspect, merely to continue in your current way of life in limbo. A week's course in Sydney would, I am confident, open some doors into the future. I suspect and I surmise that you have been, and still are, in a subjective state of turmoil.

I look forward to a more considered response from you, soon.

With every good wish and blessing,

+ Luc Matthys
