ARMIDALE, 2350.

My Lord,

I have been informed by Father Gerard Hanna that he has advised you of his decision to decline your invitation for him to do the forthcoming course conducted by the Institute of Tribunal Practice.

I found it strange that I was not invited to do the course.

It is well known that I am very interested in Tribunal work. Moreover, I have already undergone significant training for Tribunal work, and have displayed great competence in the work I have done for the Tribunal over the years. Also, I have been blessed with an analytical mind, most suited to the pursuit of legal studies and their practical application.

I therefore write to make application to be invited to undertake the forthcoming course.

Yours sincerely,
