

John, an afterthought.

Regarding Denis' general relationship with the Brothers, others would be better placed than myself to talk about this because I was out of Australia from late 1976 until the end of 1993. But, from my knowledge, it was at times rather turbulent. He was loosely attached to the Brothers from the period 1985 to 1988 and then finally separated in 1992.

I think it would be fair to say that, for such of that time, the relationship was not a happy one, and Denis was often seen as a 'problem'
