

NOTESRE: KATIE FOSTER*RE: TANYA SMITH

I rang Tanya Smith this day (5 May 1999). She told me that Katie is still seeing her once a week and that she was referred to a psychiatrist in the Albert Road Group earlier this year who put her on anti depressants. This has achieved some improvement. I asked Tanya whether she is becoming more forthcoming and her answer really was well we are not concerned with what's occurred in the past, we are only looking forward to the future and we don't take her back to those situations.

She then volunteered apparently at the parent's initiative some expert in post traumatic stress syndrome has seen both Emma and Katie and had lengthy interviews with them. She said it may be from those interviews that something can be gleaned as to any recounting of past events etc. I told her the necessity to formalise the matter as far as Carelink was concerned and she had no difficulties with that. I told her I would be writing to her in that and other regards.
