Dear Bishop Ingham,

I emailed you last month regarding a wedding I have been asked to perform in the Chicago Archdiocese in May. Although I have done wedding regularly in various diocese with the usual delegation of the pastor, I am now informed by the groom that Chicago archdiocese has an additional requirement requiring a letter from the bishop of priests not incardinated in that archdiocese, regarding their bone fides. If you are able to provide this in some form, I would be grateful to hear from you. I appreciate that your ad limina visit is approaching and I would like the couple to receive timely notice if I am unable to perform the marriage,
Regards,

Father John Nestor.
