Dear ~~Mr~~ ABC-

Greetings from Australia. I hope that you are both well. I am writing regarding your ministry and your background at Southdown and the lead-up to that.

In the light of the aspects of your career leading to your going to Southdown and the subsequent discussions that I had with you and the professionals at Southdown, teaching young people was clearly ruled out. My recollection is that you and I agreed that this was definitely the case. It was also the agreement that I made when speaking with Br. Sean Sammon in enabling you to continue your studies in the U.S. It was a very clear requirement to me by Southdown.

I have presumed that the teaching would not be a question for you again. If this were to be the case then I would consider myself under a serious legal and moral obligation, not only to remind you of the past, but also to contact any school where you might be teaching young people. This is particularly so in the light of investigations in Australia subsequent to your departure from this country and legal actions taken.

I have the greatest care and concern for you as I'm sure would be evident to you. It would be very difficult for me to have to contact an employer were you to engage in teaching without being fully open and frank regarding your background. I would be pleased to hear from you before making any further enquiries.

I am very sorry to be writing to you about this matter but I regard it as a matter of critical importance for the welfare of yourself and many others.

Yours sincerely,

Br. Alexis Turton,
Provincial.
