Dear Alex,

There are two projects that I have been very keen to get started for quite some time.

The immediate one is to set up and co-ordinate a Marist Brothers' Resource Centre where all material dealing with Marcellin Champagnat and the Marist Brothers that has been and will be produced can be centralised, catalogued and then advertised so that schools or anyone can borrow for projects, preparation for Champagnat Day and the like.

The material that Brother Owen has could also be included if that is what Brother Owen would like happen to it. Kevin Blyth has mentioned the fact that Brother finds it very difficult to answer requests for information because of his failing eyesight and so his material could be included.

The Resource material will eventually cover all branches of the Society of Mary.

I have outlined my ideas on a separate sheet.

The second project, way down the track, will automatically follow from this and it centres on Father Jean - Claude Colin's vision of a

'New Church' - The Whole World Marist

Kindest Regards,
