Dear Mal,

I have just been writing my journal for today & decided to write a thank you note.

I have been shocked by the news that the Marxist Brothers have a protocol for dealing with sexual assault, & also by their offer of financial & counselling support. This has given me knowledge that they do care & that is important to me, especially now.

When I had hung up the phone after making an appointment at the Sexual Assault Unit yesterday morning I just cried out loud. I have been comforted by the new depth of humanness, reality that I am finding within myself. I feel after these personal contacts with myself have been boosted by our counselling session last week your manner was very "immale-like" - feminine(?) or neuter & I like that a lot, it is what I hope to be like with my future clients. I know this experience will help. See you again soon. Thank you.

Yours sincerely
