An adjunct to Team meeting notes 11am 9.9.92 regarding [REDACTED]

After [REDACTED] left to go back to class Anne Robinson read through her notes with me. Anne expressed how well [REDACTED] had answered questions.

Anne said she was disappointed that the Department hadn't followed through with counselling for [REDACTED]. In the course of general conversation Anne said she was disappointed that the local G.P. hadn't called full testing of CIO on the Friday, as this was mandatory. Over the weekend Anne said, the step father had tried to put CIO on tape but it was unclear because of bongo drums in the background. CIO was tested at the Rape Centre on the Monday.

Anne said she had been amazed at CIO's interview - the mother had insisted on being there (this was unusual). CIO had her story "off pat" when CIO walked in she said ... "I know what I'm here for - you are going to ask questions and I have to talk"
