

2.

to myself to see how we were coping after such a long session

Dear RE tells me the sooner I get out of fantasy land the better but I do believe it can all be done so much better. Where does the compassionate Christ come into this horrid mess?

Our family reunion wasn't much fun for Mum's 80th. Too much anger & resentment remains & to make matters worse we were all told Reg & Martin have bought a unit at Range Village. Mum and Dad had their name down but the price escalated

REDACTED

25th June '99

Phone/Fax REDACTED

Dear Bishop Brian,

Thank you for giving me your time in Brisbane. I can't say it was a magic cure – the nightmares since our meeting have been horrendous.

I feel the Professional Standards Office fails people such as myself as there has been no follow up since. Myoline phone to see that I was okay, but purely the role of the facilitator could include a phone call to you as well as not giving my notes to anyone to read. You may share it with your support person but I don't want John Grace reading it.

4

Please feel free to comment on it if you wish. I have enclosed copies of other letters to refresh your memory.

I have made an appointment for further counseling. I knew if I didn't do something soon, RE & REDA would pack up & move on. My mood swings are terrible!

Take care & thank you again.

Sincerely

AYB

3

out of their reach. Doesn't seem fair does it?

I have accepted the fact that I will never be free of the memories that haunt me. I have spent years & hundreds of dollars trying to rid myself of them but I now know it is part of me & I accept this. I will try & learn more skills to help me cope.

Please pass on the letters to Martin & Bde if you think they are okay. I don't want another solicitors letter.

I trust that you will respect my privacy in