Dear Michael,

An inmate I trust, and with whom I did the Cubit Programme, has just come to me with information which has totally gutted me. He says that an inmate in his unit called <sup>CNE</sup> has made a sexual assault complaint to the police about me. All I know is that he's about 32, that the offense occurred somewhere, when he was a child and that the police told him to keep it quiet until I got out of jail and then bring it out.

At the time of my arrest I trawled through my memory and I believe I mentioned all my victims to the police next of whom they didn't know about. The name <sup>CNE</sup> means absolutely nothing to me and unless he has had a change of name I can't imagine who he could be and as I said I told police everything I could remember.

At this moment I'm not sure how to cope with this news as you can imagine. Perhaps through Zimmerman House it would be possible to pursue this matter. According to my friend I'm in no danger from this peer who said he recognised me at work.

Best wishes
Vince.
