Good Afternoon WL

Greg Clune

Greg Clune has been involved with Catholic education for over 40 years. He has taught in four States across Australia and was Principal of three schools for nineteen years: St Peter's Catholic College, ACT, John XXIII College and Santa Maria College. Greg also worked in the Catholic Education Office in ACT and here in WA. While there, he focussed on curriculum and course writing, learning support, senior staff, Principals and Boards support, review and management. Today, he is a consultant for the Department of Education Services, Department of Education and Edmund Rice Education Australia. Greg has a Masters in Education from Sydney University. Greg is also a parishioner at Immaculate Heart Parish in Scarborough and has been married to Marie since 1972, together they have a son, Richard.

Kind Regards
