David

I refer to your letter of 16 July 2001 and our discussions on this matter.

I have revisited the work that Ken Winks did to establish the identity of the Legal Liability insurers in each of the years from 1979 to 1988 and can assure that he devoted considerable effort to it and retracing his steps would not achieve anything more. Ross Nuttall, the officer who wrote the 29 October 1979 letter to AIG is still with our company (although currently on leave) so he would be available to provide an opinion on the strength of the argument that the insurance on grammar schools was arranged in tandem. Coincidentally, I recall that I provided the service in the period prior to Ross and I have no doubt that that was the case then.

David, I would like to talk to Ross Nuttall and any other senior officers of the firm during the late 1970's / early 1980's to see whether they may be able to recall the archiving arrangements of the time. Apart from that, I have no other suggestions at the moment.

Please rest assured that we will do everything possible to assist the school but there may be critical ambitions that, with the passing of time, are simply impossible to realise.

I will write again as soon as I can.

Regards

Rick Edwards
