Dear Cliff,

I write to acknowledge receipt of your correspondence received on the 30th June relating to my previous correspondence seeking a response to your name appearing in a document from a man seeking compensation for harm caused to him while a boy in Indooroopilly Boys Home.

I appreciate the careful way in which you have made your response. It is certainly helpful to note your observations of how the boys were treated by other managers and staff. I thank God that you were there with Marina to bring support to the boys in your house.

I also appreciate the fact that you and Marina were prepared to come and talk with us regarding your experiences at Alkira. In due course I will send you a copy of the interview for your approval.

Your response will be tabled at the Personal Injuries Committee. It is clear from your correspondence, and also from our time together today that you carried out your work at Indooroopilly with kindness and sensitivity. I have no doubt that this was of benefit to the many boys who you had responsibility for.

Thanks once again to both you and Marina for your support.

God bless you.

Kind regards,

Philip Cairns (Lieut-Colonel)
