you?
Jim

The Qantas 767 Extended Range aircraft is about half the size of its big Boeing brother, the 747. It is 48.51 m long, has a wingspan of 47.57 m, a maximum take-off weight of 159,210 kg and a range of about 7500 km with a full payload. The aircraft incorporates the most advanced materials and technology, with the two pilots using a computerised flight management system.
