Memo to: J.F.C.H.

Dear Jonathan,

USE OF YOUR HOUSE

1. It is O.K. for you to put your spare room to occasional use in the best interests of pupils who have late or early commitments provided, of course, parents are always informed. The only obvious caution is that it may sometimes cause difficulties for certain kinds of pupils if they are always seen by their contemporaries to be getting that sort of special treatment.

I don't think it would be a good idea for the arrangement to apply in term 2 when there will be nobody (as far as I know) living in the house. That sort of arrangement always leads to trouble in the end.

2. Weekends

I think it would be a good idea to draft up some written rules. It is simply in everybody's interests for the thing to be clarified precisely. Please let me see what you devise.
