Dear Archbishop

I have been approached by a number of constituents involved with St Ann's school and have been asked by them to ascertain when the Church will be releasing its report into child abuse. I understand that you have offered to have the report tabled in the Parliament.

I recently asked the Premier a question in the House, asking whether he had heard from you or had seen a copy of the Church's report. He suggested I write to you and I have taken that advice.

I would be pleased to know, at your earliest convenience, when the report will be available so that we can give the parents of the children who were abused some peace of mind.

Yours sincerely
