Tonight after outoang
a few of us kids went up to my goodnight
to swami, he asked us if we wanted a t-shirt
that he had bought
back from Fiji, we
all

said yes of course,
so we went in and
chase one from the pile. There wasn't enough for me to have one, there was
but they were all too small. He said 'haven't you got one?' I said
no, there isn't any
left that will fit
me and that I don't mind missing out
one one. He said
the little ones
wouldn't fit me
because my boobs were too big (bastard).

There was a pair of gross pants there which he said I could have, I said I didn't want them. He seemed to get a bit cut when I said this and said something like oh well don't have any-thing at all then. Fuck mate I really can't see why he got so cut at me just because I didn't want a pair of gross pants. I really try to have some sort of
