Hi J&J

I had a very late phone call from Rebecca last night. She was in such a distressed state. Totally understandable, but very troubling.

When she texts me when she wakes up I will go over to her...thats the plan.

However, I feel one of the problems may be that she needs to have this out in the open and wrote some words below.

I also think we should personally ring each of the teachers to let them know, or at least email them before we put something out to the families.

I wanted to cover any questions they may ask, that is why I included future plans.

When you digest this can we talk? Maybe you have other ideas.

Hope you are finding ways to hold up

love
Mumma

Dear RGDANCE families,

We have to advise that regretfully Mr Grant will not be returning to the studio.

We understand this will be a disappointment and shock to many students and families, however, he has some personal troubles and issues that need all his attention and emotions at this time.

We are unable to comment further at the moment, however, ask that you respect his and our families privacy at this very difficult time.

Miss Rebecca and her big sister Miss Jennifer, who is head of the junior school, together with all their dedicated staff, will continue to offer their passionate and excellent training as they have always done.

We call upon your loyalty, support and friendship at this time as we work to move forward with the minimum of impact on our students and families.

Our immediate plans are to move into term 2 in a positive light to ensure our students continue to succeed and enjoy their love of dance.

There may be some disruption to classes and timetables however we will endeavour to keep these to a minimum. We will contact you personally if your class times are altered.

Our plans for our USA guest Tokyo and any classes the teachers have organized during the holidays for ballet exams and rehearsal will continue as organised. No chance will be missed to create great opportunities for our students.

Thank you, in advance, for your patience and love.
