

Robert Caddies

From: Richard Wrightson <richard.wrightson@REDACTED>
Sent: Tuesday, 2 August 2016 8:29 AM
To: Robert Caddies
Subject: Srength for the day

My dear Robert,

I am conscious of the cruel stress which you face now and in the coming days as the bubbling trauma within your beloved church is laid bare to cold judgements and callous innuendos from the Press. It would almost seem to an outsider as myself, that the poor tormented Bishop unable to find resolution of his own sad emotional and mental health, only sees his healing possible through a public and indiscriminate bloodletting within the church. He becomes the white knight through the demolition and wounding of all around him. Such a blood sacrifice, will not be the answer.

This may be wrong, but knowing your love and integrity I am conscious how cruel these days may become. You carry with loyalty and courage your tireless care of Joselyn and now comes this added extra.

Be assured that each day Dulcie and I are upholding you in prayer, asking with all the assurance of faith, that the good Lord will grant you all the spiritual resources required day by day and that knowing the armour of God, you may be able withstand these days, and having done all, to stand.

With our affectionate support,

Richard

This email has been checked for viruses by Avast antivirus software.

www.avast.com