

1CV – Gerry O’Hanlon

Gerry O’Hanlon S.J. (b 1947) is currently an Adjunct Associate Professor of Theology at the Loyola Institute in Trinity College Dublin.

Ordained in 1978, PhD in Theology at Queen’s University Belfast in 1986, Dean of Theology and Vice-Chancellor of the Milltown Institute of Theology and Philosophy in Dublin, Gerry O’Hanlon served as Provincial of the Irish Jesuit Province from 1998-2004 and subsequently as Social Theologian at the Jesuit Centre for Faith and Justice in Dublin. He has authored several book and many articles – see relevant selection at end of Submission to the Royal Commission.