REDACTED

On August 10th, 1999, Rex Ward called me to his office to say that a staff member had told him I was driving REDACTED, the in Year 8, home from rugby training. I agreed that I had done so on six occasions. I also told Rex that I had REDA's parents permission and that REDAC was going through a rough time and needed someone to talk to.

Rex said for my own protection I should not drive him home any more. I agreed but asked him to check with REDA's parents. Rex declined to do so and said that this would go no further.

At no point did he issue me with any instruction about not driving any boy home. He matter was specifically to do with REDA and he called the comments by the staff member (unnamed) as gossip.

I enclose a letter of permission from REDACTED's mother.
