IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF NEW SOUTH WALES AT SYDNEY (CRIMINAL AND SPECIAL JURISDICTION).

sworn before me on

6 March

2015.

REDACTED

NO: 2012/393036

The applicant will at Sydney at 10am
on the 1 September, 2014 or on a date appointed by the trial judge, at the District Court in its Criminal and Special Jurisdiction move the Court for the following Orders:

1. That the Crown's application to introduce tendency evidence be refused.

Grounds:

- a. the evidence does not have significant probative value,
and/or;
- b. the probative value of the evidence does not substantially outweigh the prejudicial effect

2. Should the evidence referred to in 1 above not be admitted, that there be separate trials for each complainant.

Grounds:

- a. the offences are not related,
and
- b. the interests of justice
requires that they be heard separately.

3. Such other orders that this Honourable Court sees fit.

Upon the grounds and for the reasons
appearing in the affidavit of Sashi Shukla.
