Summary

I telephoned Martin Goodings, Assistant Principal at Knox College in response to his earlier call. He was wanting some assistance with completing Part A of the notification form in the matter of Craig Treloar.

He told me the following:

Approx two weeks ago, Hornsby Police arrived at Knox and arrested Craig Treloar. They also seized the files of seven students including [REDACTED], [REDACTED], Rentoul, Lamond [ASE ATS], Steer and one other student (surnames only). Treloar was charged with several counts of indecent acts on a minor and sexual assault. I asked if Treloar had any previous history and he said that his name had been mentioned in the investigation of Adrian Nesbitt who was at Knox in the 80's with Treloar. Nesbitt is a former employee and has also been arrested. It was alleged that in 1988 Treloar had shown pornographic videos to an unnamed student. This matter was investigated by a previous principal in the 80s and the records of that investigation were never found.

I gave advice to Martin about how to complete Part A and he will send the notification in ASAP.

By way of background, in February 2007, I had a meeting with John Weekes (Principal) and Grahame Wilson, at their request. They had received further information (from a now adult victim who did not want his identity disclosed to Police) about Nesbitt, who by this time was long gone.

In addition to information about Nesbitt, they mentioned Treloar. I advised them to notify the Police about all the information they had and they subsequently met with Inspector Beth Cullen from the NSW Police Child Protection and Sex Crimes Squad. They were not informed or were aware of any action by the Police in respect of these matters until two weeks ago.
