REDACTED

Dear Dr. Aspinall

Thursday September 27, 2007

Church of England North Coast Children's Home

I respond to your letter dated 20 September, 2007.

In the interim I received a letter from Bishop Keith Slater who well over two months ago made a firm promise in front of three witnesses, including Jenni Woodhouse from the Anglican Church Diocese of Sydney, that Mr. Pat Comben, because of his nasty and appalling approach towards 41 abused victims, would not be involved with any person who come forward with complaints of abuse from the North Coast Children's Home. (I have sent information on that issue in the past)

In the three months past, and even though I have written to Bishop Slater quite a few times asking him to honour that promise, he has totally ignored what he had said. That is sad for a man of his standing.

In a letter to me dated September 13, 2007 Bishop Slater wrote: 'Having considered the matter I advise that Rev Comben will not be the contact person in any of these matters.'

What that comment means to me, and six other people who had read his letter, including a policeman with 20 years service who resides in the same complex as I, is that Mr. Comben will be involved in another way with any further complaints from people who come forward from the North Coast Children's Home.

After all this time Bishop Slater has made a very poor attempt of brushing over the Comben fiasco and I refuse to let him go back on his word. He has not fulfilled his promise.

Bishop Slater devoted himself to the church and to honour the Ten Commandments. He has unashamedly disobeyed the Ninth Commandment, that being: 'Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbour.'

Bishop Slater has committed a sin.

He has shown weakness and he should be made to follow through with the letter of promise.

Kind regards,

Richard 'Tommy' Campion
