Hi YM

I was deeply shocked at the announcement in the media yesterday re YJ He taught RED in Year 4 and we found him to be an excellent teacher and human being. I find it difficult to believe he could ever behave so abhorrently. Having said that I am also deeply shocked at the fact that his entire life is now ruined when he has not yet been found guilty by a court of law, courtesy of the media announcement yesterday. What ever happened to the presumption of innocence until proven guilty? Has he admitted his guilt? If not I would hope that his condemnation would wait until if and when he is proven guilty. I do of course understand the school's position that he cannot work while under such a cloud however.

THE SCHOOL has been informed that charges have been laid against a teacher in the Preparatory School concerning a former student.
The teacher will not be returning to the School.
The School is offering counselling and support to any member of our community affected by this matter.

A formal letter from the Headmaster regarding this matter has been placed in this evening's mail.
