Dear Mr Cowdrey

The Australasian College of Sexual Health Physicians (ACSHP) held an inaugural 2-day training module in adult sexual assault care in Sydney on the 4th and 5th of November at which Margaret Cunneen from your department lectured on "Legal Aspects of Sexual Assault". As always, Margaret's lecture was well researched, educational and entertaining. The feedback from course participants was very positive and individual comments on Margaret's session included:

- "Legal issues session very useful"
- "Cannot get this information from elsewhere"
- "Relaxed, approachable and entertaining speaker – liked the case illustrations"

As with all course lecturers, Margaret kindly gave her time for free, as she has done on several occasions in the past. She continues to make herself available for educational purposes, and has also agreed to facilitate a training session for the forensic medical officers at our service on Saturday 30th November.

Margaret is always approachable and willing to assist in educational sessions for professionals working in the field of sexual assault. I commend her enthusiasm and dedication in raising the profile of sexual violence within our community and would be grateful if you could pass these sentiments on to her.

Yours sincerely

Dr Dave Templeton
Medical Coordinator

Margaret Cunneen
Well done (once again)!
Keep up the good work.
