Hi Lisel

Thank you so much for getting back to me. I really appreciate you answering my questions and will pass those answers onto the other families if that is alright with you..

Our family is doing quite well and working towards putting this all behind us. We have so much to thank you and Justin for.

Here's hoping that there is no appeal in the end.

Kind regards,

CDW [REDACTED]

Hi [CDW]

I hope your family has been well. I am happy to answer your questions and trust that the following will be of some assistance.

Character witnesses are given by individuals of their own volition. They can certainly decline to provide one if asked.

The date of [REDACTED]'s letter was 12 December 2001. It was submitted to Mr [REDACTED]

As for word of an appeal, our office has received nothing official at this point in time. Mr [CDV] has 28 days (from 3 September 2010) in which to appeal but the Court may grant an extension of time within which to appeal if there is a good reason to do so. We will let you know if we receive an appeal, though you will not need to be involved (an appeal involves written and oral submissions but no need for any witnesses).

Please don't hesitate to email or phone with any further questions.

Kind regards,

Subject: Questions relating to The State v

Hi Lisel

You said that I could drop you a line if I had any questions and I hope that you don't mind but I do have a couple that I am hoping that you can help me with.

Were the character witnesses for  subpoenaed to do so or do character witnesses agree or offer to be such? Can individuals decline to be character witnesses?

What was the date of s report where she names the three older complainants as targets of  ? Can you tell me who it was submitted to?

Has there been any word of a possible appeal yet?

Kind regards
