

Full Value Contract

Full value contracts are an opportunity to get your group to set their own code of conduct. It's an important process that will have implications throughout the whole week at camp. Please take the time to do it thoroughly, and hold your group accountable to their rules. Below is just one example, there are many options. What's important is that your campers decide what is important to them, and use their own words. Campers can either sign it, or trace their handprint and put their name it, depending on their age.

You will have cardboard & markers to make your poster. You can hang it in the dining hall to remind your group throughout the week.
