Dear Mr. Kiddle:

Re: Return to work

I'm writing to you about my employment with The Disability Trust.

As you know, I was recently suspended from normal work hours due to formal complaint from the family of a service user. It was understood that the decision to suspend came from a senior and I have so far complied for a period of four months.

It has been assumed that the allegation was rigorously denied. Investigations, by police and The Disability Trust, proved the accusation to be unsubstantiated and I have since received a clear Criminal Record Check and Working with Children Check.

I see no other reason to prolong the suspension. Please advise in writing as to when I may return to normal work hours, at your soonest convenience.

Sincerely,

Royce Comber
