Mr Cujes,

thank you for your correspondence regarding Transformative Justice. As previously indicated to you we have no intention of proceeding down this path without an admission of guilt from the two boys in question. That would now only appear possible within the criminal justice system through court action as is now proceeding. Perhaps thereafter there may be an opportunity for this process to come into play.

Your formal response would be greatly appreciated.

EAA & EAB

With regards to my previous correspondence which as yet is unanswered, I would again request an explanation as to why the school has not formally acted against Messrs DFA and DFB.

This is causing great anxiety and constination as the school's stated 'zero tolerance' so readily applied to other offences does not seem to have been applied in this instance.

In support of this statement I would put to you the following scenario:

If the implements hidden under DFA bed were a packet of cigarettes and/or a cigarette lighter and/or stolen possessions from other boys, would the school not have already acted to have the boys, at the very least, formally suspended, if not expelled?

The facts in this instance being that the implements were used in ongoing deliberate criminal sexual assaults on numerous Trinity boys who remain as part of the school community (this having been substantiated by witnesses who are Trinitarians all, and has been borne out by the police investigation which has led to criminal charges having been laid).

On this basis once again I formally request that the school act against Messrs DFA and DFB.

The longer there is no action being seen to be taken by the school and no open information being relayed to the school community, then the worse the haemmoraging and damage being done to the whole Trinity Family.

By not bringing the whole issue into the open within the school, the greater the infection spreads and prolongs anxieties of so many boys and delays the healing process.
