Dear Mr. Poulden,

Without Prejudice

Re: Your client: GA [REDACTED] (formerly known as REDACTED)

We thank you for your patience with this matter and apologise for the time that it has taken for us to come back to you.

Major John McIver has had opportunity to read the statement prepared by Mr. GA [REDACTED]. He has written his own response in which he emphatically denies the charges made against him.

In order to settle this matter and be of some assistance perhaps to Mr. GA [REDACTED], we are prepared to offer a payment of $10,000.

In addition, should Mr. GA [REDACTED] wish to meet with a member of The Salvation Army to tell his story, we would be more than willing to arrange such a meeting.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,
