1. Introduction

1.1 Background

The Department of Human Services is responsible for planning, managing, funding and delivering housing and community services for Victorians.

The department funds a range of community-based child and family services to promote the safety, stability and development of children and their families, and to build the capacity and resilience for children, families and communities.

Together with its service partners, the department is responsible for assisting children and families who need support or protection, including:

- children subject to, or at risk of harm, abuse and neglect
- Aboriginal children subject to, or at risk of harm, abuse or neglect
- children who need support to remain with their family
- families that need support to ensure an appropriate, safe and stable developmental environment for their children.

1.2 Legislative and policy context

The Children Youth and Families Act 2005

The Children, Youth and Families Act 2005 provides the legislative basis for an integrated system of services for vulnerable children, young people and their families. The Children, Youth and Families Act can be found at <www.legislation.vic.gov.au>.

The legislative context promotes the safety, stability and healthy development of children. It also places a strong emphasis on the need to consider the impacts of cumulative harm and to preserve cultural identity.

In accordance with the Children, Youth and Families Act, Community Service Organisations (CSOs) providing residential care must provide their services in a manner that is in the best interests of the child or young person. (Refer to section 1.7 of the Act.)

The decision-making principles of the Children, Youth and Families Act highlight the importance of involving children and families in decision-making processes, and of providing them with assistance and support to do so in a meaningful way.

Additional principles (section 12 of the Act) provide a framework for decision making in relation to Aboriginal children and families. These provide a stronger basis for ensuring Aboriginal children remain within, or connected to, their community and culture.

The Child Wellbeing and Safety Act 2005

The Child Wellbeing and Safety Act 2005 provides an overarching framework for promoting positive outcomes for all children, emphasising that:

- all children should be given the opportunity to reach their full potential and participate in society, irrespective of their family circumstances and background
- while parents are the primary nurturers of a child, society as a whole shares responsibility for children's wellbeing and safety
- planning and delivering services should focus on sustaining and improving children's outcomes, as well as promoting and protecting a child's safety, health, development, learning and wellbeing.

Victoria's vulnerable children: our shared responsibility

Changing the experience and life trajectory of vulnerable children and families is a shared responsibility across community, government, service providers and individuals. The Victoria's vulnerable children: our shared responsibility directions paper 2012 highlights the five key action areas for protecting Victoria's vulnerable children:

- building effective and connected services
- enhancing education and building capacity
- making a child-friendly legal system
- providing safe, stable and supportive out-of-home care
- introducing accountability and transparency.

More information about this subject is available at: <http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/about-the-department/documents-and-resources/reports-publications/victorias-vulnerable-children-our-shared-responsibility>

Registration under the Children, Youth and Families Act 2005

Services of the highest quality are required to provide children with their right to safety, stability and healthy development. The Children, Youth and Families Act provides a strong framework to ensure the quality of services and care provided to children and families.

The Children, Youth and Families Act requires CSOs providing child and family services and out-of-home care services to be registered and to meet quality standards. From 1 July 2012 these are the Department of Human Services Standards and are summarised on pages 3 and 4 below.

Under the Children, Youth and Families Act, registered services may fall within or across any of the three categories listed below:

- out-of-home care services
- community-based child and family services
- prescribed services (NB: there are currently no prescribed services).

At an activity level, organisations delivering services specifically for children and young people requiring care, support, protection or accommodation and of families requiring support are required to be registered as a community service.

For further information refer to the Policy, procedures and forms for the registration of disability service providers and community services available from the department's website at www.dhs.vic.gov.au.

Service agreement, monitoring and review

Organisations are required to deliver services in line with their service agreement with the department. Performance reporting and monitoring forms part of the agreement.

Organisations are required to regularly report on their service outputs through data collection and other reporting requirements as detailed in the service agreement. The specific requirements for monitoring, review and reporting are set out in the service agreement.

The Department of Human Services monitoring framework is made up of three components:

- ongoing core monitoring
- an annual desktop review
- possible service review, where the desktop review indicates matters or issues requiring further attention.

For further information, the Service agreement information kit for funded organisations can be accessed on the department's website at <<http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/for-service-providers/for-funded-agencies/funded-agency-channel/service-agreement-information-kit>>.

Quality assurance standards

Programs and services are expected to have systems in place to maintain quality service delivery and promote positive outcomes for clients.

The Department of Human Services Standards (the standards) implemented from 1 July 2012, are a single set of service delivery standards for a range of department-funded programs providing services to clients.

Organisations will be externally reviewed against the standards once every three years by one of a panel of independent review bodies endorsed by the department.

Where a service provider receives funding from the department of $100,000 or less per annum from the department for activities in scope of independent review, it may, with the approval of the department, undertake a self-assessment rather than an independent review of its compliance with the standards.

More information is available on the department's website at <<http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/about-the-department/documents-and-resources/policies,-guidelines-and-legislation/department-of-human-services-standards>>.

The standards are summarised as:

- empowerment: people's rights are promoted and upheld
- access and engagement: people's right to access transparent, equitable and integrated services is promoted and upheld
- wellbeing: people's right to wellbeing and safety is promoted and upheld
- participation: people's right to choice, decision making and to actively participate as a valued member of their chosen community is promoted and upheld.

A service provider's governance and management systems are also reviewed using the standards of an independent review body.

The standards enable programs and services to both internally assess strengths and use emerging practice to reflect on and refine the way services are delivered, and to have an external critique of its service delivery that builds community confidence.

The evidence guide for the standards notes that reviewers will examine a service provider's systems, policies and practices to ensure they reflect the program requirements.

1.3 Purpose of the program requirements for residential care services in Victoria

This document sets out the program requirements for delivering residential care services in Victoria. The program requirements are the essential prerequisites for providing a quality service for the children in residential care throughout the state.

The requirements are statements of what CSOs providing residential care services need to do in order to meet service expectations. In general, the requirements do not outline how – this information can be sourced from the range of program guidelines and other documents as referenced throughout this publication. CSOs will also have their own operations and procedural documentation that outline how the program requirements are implemented.

1.4 Partnership in service delivery

Effective practice requires good working relationships between services, while working in partnership with families wherever possible. The decision to place a child into out-of-home care imposes responsibility on all those involved to ensure that at a minimum, the standard of care provided is significantly better than the care that they would otherwise have received at home.

The department and the CSOs delivering residential care services are expected to work in partnership to deliver an adequate standard of care. This document identifies what is expected of CSOs and their residential care workers who care for children in residential care on behalf of the department.

At a statewide level, the department plays a critical role in specifying the type of services required, the expected service outcomes, the framework under which services are funded, and how service delivery will be monitored.

At a local level, the department undertakes the core monitoring of service delivery and engages with CSOs in relation to service demand and performance issues. The department is also responsible for timely provision of information to CSOs and carers regarding children in residential care, for developing case plans for children and young people based on best interests principles, participating as active members of care teams (see Care team in the glossary) and negotiating with CSOs to ensure the best interests of children are met via the delivery of services in accordance with case plan goals.

CSOs are responsible for recruiting, assessing, training, supervising and supporting residential carers.

CSOs support children placed in residential care and take the lead role in the development and implementation of care plans (see Care plan in the glossary). In situations where they have contracted case management responsibility, CSOs also act as case managers, and are responsible for implementing statutory case plans (see Case plan in the glossary). For voluntary clients, CSOs are responsible for establishing and monitoring the voluntary agreement (see Voluntary agreement in the glossary).

1.5 Residential care

Residential care is an out-of-home care placement option providing temporary, short-term or long-term accommodation and support to children who have been removed from the family home.

Residential care has two funded activity levels: residential care intermediate (RP2) for children who display a significant level of challenging behaviour or because they are a part of a large sibling group, and residential care complex (RP3) for children who display a significant level of complex behaviour, have multiple and complex needs and engage in high-risk behaviours.

The majority of residential care placements in Victoria are managed by CSOs. These organisations can also provide case management services. (Refer to section 2.15 below.)

1.6 Best interests principles

The Children, Youth and Families Act (section 10) states that the best interests of a child must always be paramount when making a decision. When determining whether a decision or action is in the child's best interests, CSOs must always consider:

- the need to protect the child from harm
- the need to protect the rights of the child
- the need to promote the child's development, taking into account their age, stage of development, culture and gender.

The best interests are a unifying framework for practice across the out-of-home care sector. They guide the development of workplace policies and procedures that promote working in the best interests of a child. CSOs can download the Best interests case practice model summary guide at < <http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/about-the-department/documents-and-resources/reports-publications/best-interests-case-practice-model-summary-guide> >.

1.7 Child protection, placement and family services outcomes framework

The Child protection, placement and family services outcomes framework is a tool that has been developed as a key component of the sector-wide quality system, providing a mechanism to track the effects, and monitor the impact, of system changes on outcomes for children and young people and identify priority areas for action. The framework consists of:

- a 'vision' for children of being safe, healthy and continuing to develop, learn and achieve wellbeing
- the three domains of safety, stability and development through the lens of the child's age, stage of development and gender), as described within the best interests case practice model
- ten outcomes that derive from the best interests framework
  - Children are safe from injury and harm.
  - Children are connected to their family and carers.

- Children are connected to school and community.
  - Children are connected to their culture.
  - Children enjoy optimal physical health.
  - Children achieve optimal education and learning.
  - Children achieve optimal social and emotional development.
  - Children have a positive sense of self.
  - Children display positive behaviour and good mental health.
  - Children display pro-social teenage lifestyles.
- a list of the indicators that, when taken together, will give us an indication as to whether we are contributing effectively to achieving the outcomes
  - a section detailing the quantitative and qualitative measures that inform the indicators and outcomes.

The outcomes framework is informed by both quantitative and qualitative data gathered by service evaluations, research and existing data collected across the sector and is linked to the statewide Victorian outcomes framework for children, enabling an evidence-based comparison of outcomes of vulnerable children with all children in Victoria.

1.8 Looking after children

Looking After Children (LAC) is an outcomes-focused approach for collaboratively providing the good care of children placed on out-of-home care. LAC considers the child's needs and outcomes across seven developmental domains which encompass each child's safety, stability and developmental objectives. Information about LAC is available on the department's website at <http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/about-the-department/plans,-programs-and-projects/programs/children,-youth-and-family-services/looking-after-children-in-victoria-lac> and at <http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/for-service-providers/children,-youth-and-families/child-and-youth-placement-and-support/lac-in-practice>.

The LAC domains are:

Health

This area includes: progress towards achieving all the physical developmental milestones from childhood to puberty; injury prevention and immunisation against preventable illnesses; personal hygiene; good dental care; the provision of a healthy diet; and the development and maintenance of a physically active lifestyle.

Emotional and behavioural development

This area focuses on the child's responses to other people and the world around them, as reflected in their feelings and demonstrated through their actions. Positive and nurturing relationships build healthy emotional and behavioural responses that equip children and young people to better deal with stressors and become resilient.

Education

Every child needs to be supported to maximise their educational potential. Participation in preschool, primary and secondary schooling to vocational training or tertiary studies is very important for developing life skills and the ability to learn.

Family and social relationships

The child has established meaningful, stable, appropriate and affectionate relationships with family and peers and others within their social network.

Identity

This area covers the questions of 'Who am I?' and 'Where do I belong?' The sense of self is influenced by their gender, ethnicity, religion, sexuality and physical appearance. Family, community and culture provide significant elements of a child's identity, especially for Aboriginal children. Photos, certificates, mementos, recalling and retelling shared experiences develop the individual child or young person's 'life story' about growing up in a particular time and space.

Social presentation

A child's appearance, social behaviour and personal habits affect how other people perceive and treat them. These reactions will affect a child's self-esteem and self-confidence. Young people need guidance and resources to present themselves in ways that help them to be positively regarded by their peers and adults. Recreation and leisure activities develop self-confidence and skills related to successful interactions with peers.

Self-care skills

All children need to be given the opportunity to care for themselves at a level appropriate to their age and ability, with the goal of eventual independence.

1.9 Charter for children in out-of-home care

The charter provides a framework of principles to promote the wellbeing of children and young people in out-of-home care. Written by the Commission for Children and Young People, it outlines the rights of children in out-of-home care. More information about the charter is available at <<http://www.ccyp.vic.gov.au/index.htm>>.

1.10 Format of the program requirements for residential care

The residential care program requirements fall into three broad categories as outlined below. Note that 'child' and 'children', used throughout the requirements, refer to all children and young people in residential care. 'Young person' (or young people) is used when a requirement is specific to those aged 15 and above.

Service delivery and client care requirements

Section 2 of this document outlines program requirements addressing the planning and provision of care for children placed in residential care.

Environment and material goods

Section 3 of this document outlines program requirements addressing the physical environment of residential care, and the material goods that children are provided.

Organisational and human resources

Section 4 of this document outlines program requirements addressing organisational and human resources issues that apply to the operations and practices of the CSOs delivering residential care services, including employment processes.

Each overarching program requirement area has three components:

- a principle statement, which identifies why the particular category of requirements is important
- a summary of each requirement's expectation
- the program requirements themselves.

The program requirements are underpinned by the standards. Where applicable, the program requirements are referenced to the relevant departmental standard. More information about the standards is available on the department's website at <http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/about-the-department/documents-and-resources/policies,-guidelines-and-legislation/departments-of-human-services-standards>.

Key supporting documents such as policies and guidelines are noted below each program requirement. Residential care organisations and staff should familiarise themselves with these policy documents or guidelines.

As the Children, Youth and Families Act is the foremost legislative foundation for program activity, specific sections are cited when applicable.

2. Service delivery and client care requirements

Principle statement

The safety, wellbeing, development and stability of individual children is the primary focus of residential care services. Individualised planning and service delivery is essential so that children will:

- be safe
- have their developmental needs met
- be provided with opportunities to achieve their full potential.

Summary of expectations

CSOs must work to ensure the planning and delivery of services reflects what is currently known to be most effective. It is essential that CSOs continually review what they are doing, how they are doing it and what the results are. The findings of such reviews can then be used to identify areas of possible improvement in systems, processes and practices.

Residential carers and other CSO staff will play a vital role in contributing to each child's case planning goals being achieved. They will provide appropriate levels of support and supervision to each child through the care and placement planning process and will cooperate and collaborate with all services involved with the child. On a day-to-day basis, they must play a supportive and facilitative role, ensuring that children are encouraged to reach their full potential, children's individual needs and backgrounds are respected and catered for, and children are prepared as much as possible for the demands they will face when they leave care. The LAC framework must be used to facilitate this role and the involvement of the child and their family in planning for their care.

Program requirements

2.1 Case Planning and Care planning

(This requirement relates to Department of Human Services Standards 3.1, 3.2, 3.3 and 3.4)

Case Planning

2.1.1 CSOs and residential staff will work in collaboration with the department to develop, contribute to and implement statutory case plan directions for children in care. The department maintains the case planning responsibility for all statutory clients in residential care (with the exception of a delegation made to an Aboriginal organisation under section 18 of the Children, Youth and Families Act). (Please refer to 'Case Plan' in the Glossary).

Care Planning

2.1.2 The CSO providing the residential placement manages, actions and reviews day-to-day care arrangements for children. This means that CSOs hold the lead responsibility for care planning regardless of whether case management responsibilities have been contracted to the CSO.

2.1.3 CSOs will undertake care planning that is demonstrably consistent with the overall case plan and the Best interests framework. The Best interests framework can be found at <http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/for-service-providers/children,-youth-and-families/child-protection/specialist-practice-resources-for-child-protection-workers/best-interests-case-practice-model-summary-guide-2010>.

2.1.4 CSOs will use the Looking After Children (LAC) framework and processes for managing the day-to-day care of a child using a collaborative care team approach. Further information about LAC is available on the department's website at <http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/about-the-department/plans,-programs-and-projects/programs/children,-youth-and-family-services/looking-after-children-in-victoria-lac> and at <http://www.dhs.vic.gov.au/for-service-providers/children,-youth-and-families/child-and-youth-placement-and-support/lac-in-practice>.

2.1.4 The CSO managing the day-to-day care of the child will establish, coordinate and lead a specifically constituted care team for each child in their care.

2.1.6 A care team is comprised of a CSO staff member who leads the care team, the case manager (this may be the child protection practitioner, the CSO based contracted case manager if the case is contracted or a disability or other CSO based case manager if the placement is authorised via a child care agreement) the key residential care staff and the child's parents (unless considerate inappropriate) . Other key adults closely involved in the care of the child (for example, the child's grandparent, respite care worker, Aboriginal elder or other significant adult) may also be members of the child's care team, ,

2.1.7 The care team will ensure the child's views are well represented in care planning decisions. (The child is not a member of their own care team, given the purpose of the care team is to make decisions about the care of a child that a parent would ordinarily make).

2.1.8 Within two weeks of a placement commencing, CSOs will commence recording in the LAC Essential Information Record all important factual pieces of information about the child. For example, who may give authority for medical treatment and important identification numbers such as health care cards and Medicare numbers. The Essential Information Record will be kept up-to-date by the CSO as part of the ongoing information gathering, care planning and review processes undertaken with the care team.

2.1.9 As soon as possible, and within two weeks of the commencement of a placement, CSOs will develop a LAC Care and Placement Plan (for a child aged under 15 years) OR a LAC 15+ Care and Transition Plan (for a young person aged 15 years or older) in conjunction with the care team.

2.1.10 The Care and Placement Plan (0-14 years) identifies the child's needs and documents the strategies in place for the day-to-day management of these needs. The 15+ Care and Transition Plan identifies and documents the young person's needs and strategies for both their day-to-day care and their preparation for adulthood and leaving care. Both care plans are guided by the child's case plan goals under the seven LAC domains outlined under Requirement 1.8 above. These plans may also be used to fulfil the requirements for a disability support plan under the Disability Services Act for a child with a disability in out-of-home care (Please see Care and Placement Plan and Care and Transition Plan in the Glossary)

2.1.11 The LAC Assessment and Progress Record, which monitors the child's progress in care, will be completed as soon as possible after the placement has been established, to inform ongoing care planning. An Assessment and Progress Record must be completed for every child who has been in care for six months or longer and at least annually thereafter. For children aged under five years, this record must be completed every six months

2.1.12 CSOs will ensure agreed tasks allocated to CSO staff are completed in accordance with the Care and Placement Plan or the Care and Transition Plan and that each client's Care and Placement Plan or Care and Transition Plan is reviewed at least every six months. The initial plan will focus on the immediate placement establishment tasks. Subsequent plans will be more comprehensive, consider the medium- and long-term placement goals, implement actions arising from the most recent Assessment and Progress Record findings, and integrate with related statutory case planning processes and goals.

2.1.13 CSOs will ensure that each child's LAC records are completed and attached to the child's case management and CSO based care management files using the most appropriate electronic formats available for each of the relevant documents, as follows:

- The Essential Information Record will be generated and kept updated by CSOs within the Client Relation Information System for Service Providers (CRISSP). CSOs will provide an electronic copy (along with any significant updates) to child protection for attachment on the child's Client Relations Information System (CRIS) file. Because the Essential Information record is unable to be generated within CRIS, CSOs with contracted case management responsibilities may generate and use the CRIS based Client Profile document as an acceptable substitute for the Essential Information Record.
- Care and Placement Plans and Reviews of Care and Placement Plans (but not Care and Transition Plans) may be completed in both CRIS or CRISSP, although only CSOs with contracted case management responsibility can generate these documents in CRIS. A copy of the completed plan and/or review should be attached to CRIS if it has been completed in CRISSP, and vice versa.
- Care and Transition Plans are completed in an electronic format that must be attached to both the CRIS and CRISSP files. There is no structured review format for the Care and Transition Plan – completion of a new revised version of the Care and Transition Plan provides a record of both the review process and its outcome.
- Assessment and Progress Records are currently completed in an electronic format that is too large to attach to either the CRIS or CRISSP file. CSOs should ensure that information about where the hard copy of this record is kept is noted on both the CRIS and CRISSP files.

2.1.14 CSOs will ensure all members of the care team have a copy of the current care plan in a format that facilitates understanding. All care team members must be able to readily access the other LAC records whenever they are needed for the child's good care. Children may also be given copies of all their LAC records and must be able to access a copy of any LAC record upon request.

2.1.15 CSOs will provide copies of the child's LAC records to other CSOs if the child moves to a new placement.

summary guide).

2.2 Participation in decision making

(This requirement relates to Department of Human Services Standards 3.2, 4.1 and 4.2)

2.2.1 CSOs will ensure children and their families are encouraged and supported as far as possible (and as is deemed appropriate to the child's age and stage of development) to have direct involvement in all case planning, care planning and any other key decision-making processes that concern them.

2.2.2 CSOs must give consideration to the 'Decision-making principles' that are outlined in part 1.2 division 3 of the Children, Youth and Families Act.

2.2.3 CSOs will follow part 1.2 division 4 of the Children, Youth and Families Act, 'Additional decision-making principles for Aboriginal children' that depicts the consideration given in making a decision or taking action in relation to an Aboriginal child.

2.2.4 In recognition of the principles of Aboriginal self-management and self-determination, CSOs will consult members of the Aboriginal community to which an Aboriginal child or young person belongs in decision-making processes (Children, Youth and Families Act, part 1.2, division 4).

2.2.5 CSOs or care teams seeking exception to the requirements outlined between 2.2.1 to 2.2.4 should consult with the relevant departmental case planner.

Supporting documents: Children, Youth and Families Act 2005

2.3 Responding to the challenging behaviour of children

(This requirement relates to Department of Human Services Standard 3.1)

2.3.1 CSOs will have written policies and practices in place that outline appropriate trauma-informed intervention and support in response to challenging behaviour by children in residential care.

2.3.2 CSOs will have written policies and procedures in place that are readily accessible by all staff. CSOs will ensure residential carers observe these policies and procedures in their practice with children including:

- appropriate therapeutic and trauma-informed responses to children at all times and when experiencing a crisis or displaying challenging behaviour
- utilising prevention and de-escalation strategies to diminish the risk of harm to the child, their peers or others
- paying particular attention to de-escalation strategies with children known to have displayed high-risk or challenging behaviours (this is assisted by developing and maintaining a relationship of trust with the child and understanding and responding appropriately to triggers in order to ensure their safety)
- positively supporting self-regulation by children when they are faced with challenging and stressful situations and triggers.

2.3.3 CSOs will ensure staff are made aware of both CSO and departmental policies and practices and that staff are supported in accessing and understanding policies using supervision and training.

2.3.4 Procedures must be planned to avoid using physically intrusive or restrictive practices. Physical intervention may only be used as a last resort and at the least intrusive level to ensure freedom from harm for all involved.

2.3.5 CSOs will have practice guidelines for residential carers about working with children (under ten years of age) who exhibit problem sexual behaviour and with children and young people displaying sexually abusive behaviour (aged over ten).

Supporting documents: Adolescents with sexually abusive behaviours and their families \(Best interests case practice model\)

2.4 Cooperation, collaboration and communication

(This requirement relates to DHS Standards 2.3, 3.1 and 3.2)

2.4.1 CSO staff will work collaboratively with Child Protection to provide a service that is in accordance with the child's case planning goals and assist with fulfilling these goals.

2.4.2 CSO staff will work collaboratively with relevant agencies involved with each child and foster effective linkages between these agencies. Case management provided by other agencies will be recognised and supported by CSOs.

2.4.3 CSO staff will convene regular care team meetings as required for every child and will invite and communicate with the child's child protection worker or case manager and other appropriate care team members.

2.4.5 Information must only be disclosed outside of the care team to those who must need to know to maintain the safety and healthy development of the child.

5. Glossary

Aboriginal child placement principle	A nationally agreed standard in determining the placement of Aboriginal children in out-of-home care. The principle aims to enhance and preserve Aboriginal children's cultural identity by ensuring they maintain strong connections with family, community and culture.
Care and placement plan	A Care and Placement plan records the detailed day-to-day arrangements for care of the child. It identifies their long and short-term needs and sets out who must do what and by when in order for these needs to be met. It is developed by the care team.  This LAC tool is used for children aged 0-14 years whilst for children aged 15 years and above the 15+ Care and Transition plan is used as the Care and Placement plan .

Care and transition plan (LAC 15+ care and transition plan)	The LAC 15+ care and transition plan (used instead of a care and placement plan) is developed and updated by the care team for young people aged 15–18 years. This plan aims to capture the aspirations, individual needs and supports required for young people as they transition into adulthood. It aims to prepare young people to the best of their abilities for leaving care and for the expiry of a Children’s Court order.
Care team (out-of-home care team)	The care team is the group of people who jointly manage the care of a child. The care team has a specific focus on meeting the child’s needs – its members have a shared responsibility for the practical 24-hours-a-day, seven-days-a-week care of a vulnerable child. A care team does not involve the child however should always represent the child’s point of view, and will include the child’s case manager, care manager, key residential care workers, the child’s parents (if appropriate) and any other adults who play a significant role in caring for the child such as a relative or Take Two practitioner.
Case manager and contracted case manager	The person allocated the primary responsibility of overseeing implementation of the statutory case plan. This can be a departmental employee or a CSO employee in the event that case management responsibility for a child has been contracted.
Case plan	The formal case plan drafted and endorsed by the department following a statutory case planning meeting that sets out general and specific goals to be worked towards for the child in the coming year. Case planning meetings are coordinated and chaired by the department.
Child or children	Child or young person aged 18 years or younger who is living in a residential care placement. Where ‘young person’ is used by itself, it refers to a young person aged 15 years and above.
Collection notice	A collection notice (privacy statement) informs prospective and current residential carers how the information they provide about themselves may be used, the purpose for it’s collection and that it may be disclosed to the department if required.
Community service organisation (CSO)	Non-government organisation funded to deliver residential care services on behalf of government.
CRIS and CRISSP	The Client Relationship Information System is the electronic client and case record management system used by Child Protection and Disability Services and by CSO staff with case-contracting responsibilities.  The Client Relationship Information System for Service Providers is the electronic client and case record management system used by all CSOs providing out-of-home care.
Custody to the Secretary	A type of protection order made by the Children’s Court in relation to a child that grants custody of the child to the Secretary of the

Order	department without affecting guardianship (refer to section. 287 of the Children, Youth and Families Act).
Definition of property terms	Sourced from the Housing standards policy manual Version 1.4: August 2010
Department	Department of Human Services
Direct care staff	Staff employed to care for children in a form of residential setting.
Essential Information Record	This record holds important reference information such as: Medicare numbers; school details; parents' names and contact information; birth dates; and professionals' contact information. It contains current and historical information. For example, it records both current school details and previous schools attended. This record provides a place to keep information that will remain true about the child, and will need to be added to over time. It also provides a place to note where other important reference information is being kept such as birth certificates. It covers the LAC life areas in the following order: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• health</li> <li>• emotional and behavioural development</li> <li>• education</li> <li>• family and social relationships (also includes contact and access information)</li> <li>• identity</li> <li>• social presentation (also includes interests, leisure and recreation)</li> <li>• self-care skills.</li> </ul>
Good repair	Means that the fixtures or fittings are in a satisfactory and safe condition and that the property is at a let-able standard and any required urgent repairs have been completed.
Guardianship to the Secretary order	A type of protection order made by the Children's Court in relation to a child that grants custody and guardianship of the child to the Secretary of the department (refer to section. 289 of the Children, Youth and Families Act).
Incident reporting	The purpose of this policy is to ensure that incidents, or alleged incidents, involving or impacting upon children in residential care, are documented and responded to. A new instruction (2011) focuses incident management and reporting on the most important incidents affecting clients. The incident management and reporting policy change encourages greater responsibility and commitment from staff and management to improve outcomes for children. The department's client incident report forms and supporting materials are available on the Funded Agency Channel

	< www.dhs.vic.gov.au/funded-agency-channel > and also at http://intranet.dhs.vic.gov.au
Looking after children (LAC)	Looking after children provides a framework for identifying the needs of children and youth and developing plans to meet these needs. The LAC framework attempts to strengthen communication and collaboration between carers, departmental staff, CSO staff, other associated professionals, clients and their families. It prompts all parties involved to consider the things any good parent would naturally consider when caring for their own children. It provides CSOs with a common framework for client record systems to contain the information required to look after a child.
Normal repairs	Means maintenance works that are not urgent or priority in nature, with no health and safety concerns, but which require action within 14 calendar days.
Police check	A mandatory screening tool required by the department and CSOs prior to employing a residential carer. (Also called a criminal records check.)
Policy	A framework of principles that guide decision making and practice.
Priority repairs	Means the works, if not actioned within seven calendar days, will significantly decrease the level of service provided by an appliance, fitting or surface, and is likely to become an urgent repair if not attended to.
Procedure	Written prescription of behaviours.
Reasonably clean condition	Means the property is free from rubbish and refuse and that all internal appliances, fittings and surfaces are free from dust or contaminating matter.
Residential care services	Services in which children reside at a location where care is provided by direct care staff and authorised by the Minister as an approved community service.
Stability	Stability is a core dimension for considering a child's best interests. A child experiences stability through positive connections to parents or primary carers, family, school, friends, community and culture. These connections are made by developing and maintaining a child's key relationships through participation in normal contexts of school, community and culture. All children need stability to thrive, develop and learn. Research shows stability is a key factor in building resilience in children. Stability is the concept used to summarise the considerations referred to in the Children, Youth And Families Act for determining the best interests of the child in addition to the need to protect a child from harm, to protect their rights and to promote development.
Staff	A paid worker (full time, part time or casual).

Structurally sound	Means there is no evidence of a noticeable degree of slope in walls, floors and other supports, or of defects such as major rot and decay.
Supervision	Direction, performance monitoring and support, including teaching and accountability functions typically provided by a senior staff member to a less senior staff member.
Therapeutic residential care	An enhanced response to providing residential care that is based on an understanding of the impact of trauma and is programmatically supported by increased staffing levels and therapeutic specialists.
Urgent repairs	Urgent repairs as defined in the Residential Tenancies Act 1997 means any work necessary to repair or remedy: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• a burst water service</li> <li>• a blocked or broken lavatory system</li> <li>• a serious roof leak</li> <li>• a gas leak</li> <li>• a dangerous electrical fault</li> <li>• flooding or serious flood damage</li> <li>• serious storm or fire damage</li> <li>• a failure or breakdown of any essential service or appliance provided for hot water, water, cooking, heating or laundering</li> <li>• a failure or breakdown of the gas, electricity or water supply</li> <li>• an appliance, fitting or fixture provided by Housing and Community Building that uses or supplies water and that is malfunctioning in a way that results, or will result, in a substantial amount of water being wasted</li> <li>• any fault or damage that makes the premises unsafe or insecure</li> <li>• a serious fault in a lift or staircase</li> <li>• any damage of a prescribed class.</li> </ul> In addition to the above, any fault or damage that makes the property unsafe or insecure is considered an urgent repair.
Voluntary agreement or placement	A placement that results from a 'child care agreement' is a voluntary placement. Child care agreements can only be negotiated with a registered community service as outlined in Part 3.3 of the Children, Youth and Families Act. Child care agreements can be either short term or long term. Consent is the critical factor: parents of a young person aged over 15 years must agree to the placement. Voluntary placements are normally a short term solution to identified Child Protection concerns or risks to children, which are not immediate or do not warrant legal intervention.

Volunteer	Unpaid person who donates their time to working for a particular CSO.
Working with Children Check	The Working with Children (WWC) Check is administered by the Department of Justice. It helps to protect children from sexual or physical harm by checking a person's criminal history for serious sexual, serious violence or serious drug offences and the person's history with specific professional disciplinary bodies for certain findings. The introduction of the WWC Check creates a mandatory minimum checking standard across Victoria for adults to engage in child-related work.
