We've got an extension until 27th October - please communicate this to everyone. I think we should still submit asap though.

Hari Om

Received your email and request for extension of time. You can submit the requested information one week later, by 27 October. However, please be clear that the responsibility for sorting out the administrative mess which has been created does not lie with Rishi Hriday and Viv but with the people actively involved in the work and issues concerned, who have shown no regard for due process and procedure. All concerned need to be frank and clear about the mistakes which have occurred, take responsibility for the same and demonstrate that this mismanagement has been corrected and will not be repeated in future.

Regarding the request below from Munger and our response to points 1 and 2, Rishi Hridayananda and Rishi Vivekananda are unfortunately away from Mangrove at the moment, due to return this Saturday, 18th. We therefore respectfully request an extension on the deadline for one week to allow time to go through this matter with them and allow them to review our response fully before we submit it. We understand the gravity of the situation and apologise for asking for this delay. As Rishi is the acharya of Mangrove and they are both directors of SYAA we feel that their input and guidance is both important
